

Senior Relationship Property role at a sought-after South Island firm

About Corcoran French

We walk the talk in caring for our people. Corcoran French is well-known for having an enviable workplace culture - we work hard on this, and we don't take it for granted. You'll find that we're supportive, progressive, flexible and an all-round pretty great bunch of people. Our partners are approachable, inclusive and are focused on ensuring each person is supported, achieves their goals and reaches their potential. In short, at Corcoran French, you really matter.

He angitūtanga | The opportunity

Are you looking to make the move to Christchurch? Give us a call! We're seeking a senior lawyer who has excellent technical relationship property experience to help lead our family team. Our successful and tight-knit family team works across a broad range of family law work including contracting out agreements, separations, dissolution, family violence, adoption, care of children and protection of property rights.

He kōrero mōu | About you

You'll be a capable and skilled solicitor with at least eight years' family law experience, with a focus on relationship property matters as well as private client childcare, domestic violence and PPPR court work. You'll enjoy mentoring others and sharing your expertise to help those around you thrive.

Equally important is your alignment with the values that are at the heart of Corcoran French:

Nōu te rourou | What's in it for you

- Leadership and possibility of progression to partnership for the right candidate
- Contribution towards relocation costs
- Varied and interesting opportunities from day one
- Competitive remuneration
- Excellent professional development opportunities
- Strong commitment to work/life balance, and a well-used flexible working policy
- Free and/or reduced legal fees for you and your family
- Late model mobile phone on the firm's plan
- Day off for your birthday and a host of other wellbeing initiatives including an active social club
